

PRESIDENT RELIEVES M'NAB; WILL EMPLOY SPECIAL COUNSEL TO PROSECUTE CALIFORNIA CASES

Attorney General McRenolds Makes Full
Statement of His Action—McNab Rescots
Cases for July 15—Grand Jury Sends Telegram.

Washington, June 24.—President Wilson tonight telegraphed United States District Attorney McFab of San Francisco acceptance of the latter's resignation, the form of which the president described as "an inexcusable intimation of injustice and wrong-doing" on the part of Attorney General McReynolds. In a letter to the attorney general, the president exonerates him from blame and adopted Mr. McReynolds' suggestion that the Caminito-Diggs and the Western Fuel company cases be presented immediately by special counsel for the government.

White house officials announced that the president would confer with the attorney general tomorrow about the appointment of a special prosecutor and that the president had in mind Francis J. Heney, progressive Republican, who prosecuted the San Francisco graft trials; Matt J. Sullivan, Democrat, who assisted Mr. Heney in the Reut trial, and Thomas Hayden, Democrat, a former assistant city attorney at San Francisco. It was said that at least two of the three would take charge, not only of the Caminito-Diggs white slave cases, but the Western Fuel company cases.

Developments were rapid during the day, the situation which was precipitated by the life of the

to the president and attorney general, accusing the latter of yielding to "rich and powerful influences" in order to "keep out of the case" the father of one of the defendants being Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration.

Wilson to McNab.

The subject absorbed the cabinet meeting today and tonight the president said he had decided to make public the full correspondence.

First the president telegraphed Mr. McNab as follows:

"Washington, D. C., June 24, 1912.—John L. McNab, Esq., San Francisco, Cal.—Dear Sir:—I am glad that you should have acted so hastily and under so complete misapprehension of the actual circumstances, but since you have chosen such a course and have given your resignation the form of an inquiry into the subject is unjust and wrong-doing on the part of your superior, I release you without hesitation and accept your resignation to take effect at once."

WOODROW WILSON."

Attorney General McReynolds' statement that he ordered a postponement of the case as an ordinary procedure

Commercial "trap without anticipation" that "any fairminded man" would attribute "a malign motive" to him, was acknowledged by the president in his letter:

Wilson to McReynolds.
"June 21, 1912.
"My Dear Mr. Attorney General—
Allow me to acknowledge with sincere appreciation your letter of today, giving me a full account of the way in which the advice of the Justice Department with the Diers-Cassinetti and the Western Fuel company cases, pending in California, and transmitting the documents connected with the two cases necessary for their elucidation.

"I am entirely satisfied that the course you took in both the cases was prompted by sound and impartial judgment and a clear insistence for what was fair and right.

"I approve your course very heartily and without hesitation. But I agree with you that what we may think of as the obligation does not relieve us of the obligation to proceed with cases with the utmost diligence and energy.

"I approve very heartily your suggestion that in the circumstances special counsel be employed, the best of which we can obtain.

"I am very glad to confer with you about the selection. I hope that you will do this without delay. I am very glad indeed that you are giving your personal attention to the im-cases, which I agree with you to regard as of serious importance from every point of view.

"Sincerely yours,

WOODROW WILSON."

Department of Labor Statement.

Besides the attorney general's letter to the president, the white house gave out a letter written to Mr. McReynolds today by Secretary Wilson of the department of labor, in which the latter declared that Anthony Caminetti was asked for leave of absence to attend the trial of his son before he took the oath of office as commissioner general of immigration. Furthermore, secretary Wilson stated that neither Mr. Caminetti nor any one else sug-

After winning three straight games as a result of good playing the Navigators went out to Katy park yesterday and literally as well as figuratively fell over each other in an effort to give the second game of the San Antonio series to the visitors. They succeeded in their effort to the extent of a 5 to 3 score. The let up on the fast clip they had maintained for several days was general, all of the team playing listless ball.

Jack Ashton pitched a good game. The first eight innings he allowed but five hits and the three he allowed in the ninth cost no runs. His team-mates made errors when they were costly.

San Antonio played good ball. Schwinn made both of their errors, the one in the ninth when he threw wild to third, costing a run.

It looked from the start as if it were simply not Waco's day to win. The local errors every break seemed toward the visitors.

Morton for the visitors was lucky to have gotten out as well as he did yesterday. The former T. C. U. pitcher had to work hard practically every inning. He was wild and several times had two men on and no outs.

Fred Wohleben was the only skipper able to connect more than once. He was at bat legally three times and hit safely twice. Crichlow's hit was for two bases.

Until San Antonio had piled up a several run lead the indications were that the locals would get at Morton at most any time for enough to save the game, but the little fellow tightened up several times at critical moments, and the Navigators gradually lost what pep they had and the game remained stuck snugly away for the Bronchos.

Morton showed the strain under which he was working several times and catcher Robinson had his hands full keeping the lid on the game and holding him together.

Duguey made a couple of costly fumbles and Yardley, the new third sacker, fumbled two which helped in the scoring.

How They Were Served.

San Antonio went out in one, two, three order in the first, Ashton striking out Lemon and Collins. In Waco's half Morton struck out Crichlow, the third man to face him, and closed the inning.

In the second Stinson sent a grounder to Yardley, who fumbled it. Kibler sacrificed and Frantz's two-bagger scored Stinson. Schwinn, Robinson and Morton went out in rapid order. Waco came to bat, Renner getting to first by taking one of Morton's hooks in the small of his back. Yardley flew out to Schwinn and Beck sent a made-to-order double to Schwinn.

San Antonio scored again in the third. Lemon flew out to McLaurin. Seitz was given a pass, went to second on Collins' hit, stole third and scored on Stinson's tap. Stinson was given life at first on the fielder's choice to the plate. Kibler went out to Wohleben.

In the sixth Stinson hit for two bases. Yardley's error sent him to third and put Kibler on first. Frantz hit, scoring Stinson. Schwinn flew out to Ashton. Robinson walked and Morton went out. Ashton to Wohleben. In the second half of that inning Crichlow doubled for Waco. Renner was safe on Schwinn's error. Yardley went out. Ashton to Wohleben and Beck's sacrifice fly scored Crichlow. Wohleben grounded out to Schwinn.

In the eighth Stinson reached first on Duguey's error. Kibler sacrificed. Frantz flew out to Renner. Schwinn was safe on another error by Duguey, and Stinson scored on the same out-play.

Waco tallied in the ninth. Beck grounded out, Wohleben hit a Texas leaguer, Carson walked, Ashton was safe on a fielder's choice, Schwinn attempting to catch Wohleben at third, but threw wild and Wohleben scored. Duguey grounded out and McLaurin fanned.

TRADE TRIPS DO GOOD FOR TOWN

EXPERIENCE MEETING OF MEMBERS OF THE Y. M. B. L. IS HELD.

GO TO COMANCHE THURSDAY

Letters from the Towns Indicate There Will Be a Big Reception for the Visitors.

For enthusiasm over the business trade trips and for sound logical talks on the objects of these trips, the general meeting of the Young Men's Business league last night, just prior to the departure for the trip to Hamilton and Comanche, set a record. The attendance was not as great as in some previous meetings, but the interest shown was greater.

The meeting opened with the statement from President Frank Trau that the occasion was a trade excursion meeting, and he wanted to hear from all. Several communications from towns to be visited were read by the secretary. These included a letter from Hamilton to the effect that the ladies have prepared dinner, and expect to entertain the leaguers. The letter was signed by A. E. Rankin, secretary of the Hamilton Young Men's Business club. A telegram from George Neel, secretary of the commercial organization of Gustine, inviting the trippers to spend more time in his city this year than last, was read, as was a wire from John F. Lechman, general freight and passenger agent of the Cotton Belt, accepting the invitation of the Y. M. B. L. to accompany them on the trip. President Trau also announced that automobiles would be ready at Gatesville to take the Waco delegation over the city.

Walton Taylor, following the disposal of these matters, the speakers of the occasion occupied the remainder of the evening. Walton Taylor was the first speaker, being invited to tell from the lawyer's standpoint how the trade trips helped the city. Mr. Taylor said the trips confer a general benefit on the town, gain acquaintances for all who make the trip, promote friendship and pleasure. He said every trip he has taken he has returned enthusiastic over the work of the Y. M. B. L. and the ends towards which that organization was working.

Hunt Jones, a new member, said he was about to take his first trip and he was in for them.

Father T. F. Gignac, president of St. Basil's college, said that since his stay in Waco he had come across an active dominant force that interests him, he had seen in the daily press and heard of the Y. M. B. L., but had never before had an opportunity to meet them. He said Waco has been brought into the public eye so beautifully and so well that he had made up his mind to attend a meeting of the league.

W. W. Woodson said there were one or two or three points that make a trade trip valuable. First, that business men never know each other as well as they should. He said business was cruel and cold, and that a trade trip is the finest place in the world to get acquainted, stating that he had found out more about his fellow citizens in trade trips than in any other manner. Second, he said that business men get acquainted with their customers; they meet the bankers in the towns visited and can size them up better, know how strong they are, when he meets them on their own territory.

The speaker said every man and organization should have enthusiasm; that the league had no use for the man who had no enthusiasm; that as long as you have confidence you have enthusiasm, and when a string of cars passes through the country and lets the people know the Y. M. B. L. has put 150 men in these cars, this goes a long way to advertise Waco. He said the evidence of what the Waco men were doing inspired him to come to Waco.

W. H. Hoffmann, chairman of the excursion committee, recited the success the trips had been in the past, referring to the Tyler trip. In this connection he said he had been criticized for saying that he wanted business men to send representative persons along and not cash boys. He said he did not intend criticism or offense, but that the trip is made for business and he insisted that representatives of the business institutions go on the trips. He predicted the coming trip as a grand success, "for that western country is noted for its chicken."

J. W. Riggins held attention when he began his talk by saying: "Mr. Woodson says bankers and business are cruel and cold. That is true in Waco, but I did not find it true in St. Louis. But Mr. Woodson knows it reminds me of the fellow who was making a coffin. He was driving nails when a friend asked him for whom he was making the coffin. He replied, "John Jones." The friend told him Jones was not dead, because he had just come from Jones' home. The coffin maker kept at his work, answering over his shoulder, "Well, the doctor told me he was dead, and he knows what he has been giving Jones." Mr. Woodson probably knows.

Mr. Riggins said a mistake was made in calling the trips trade trips, because the name was too mercenary, too much commercialism. He advised that speeches on trade trips should be made to teach the people that Waco was visiting them for their benefit, and the business spirit should be eliminated.

He cited what he termed a cold-blooded arrangement that came to his view while in Portland. It was a statement in the newspapers that the Elks convention which had just adjourned had left $200,000 in Portland. He said he addressed the Portland Ad club later and he told the members that this kind of advertisement was poor advertisement, and they agreed with him. He insisted that the spirit of neighbors and the handshaking spirit be made to grow, and the spirit of Waco should be to shake hands with Waco's neighbors.

He said, "Tell them we are building a great city, that its growth will help them, that if we attain 200,000 population it will supply a better market for their products; if we have the opportunity, they have the opportunity."

W. H. Hoffmann, chairman of the excursion committee, recited the success the trips had been in the past, referring to the Tyler trip. In this connection he said he had been criticized for saying that he wanted business men to send representative persons along and not cash boys. He said he did not intend criticism or offense, but that the trip is made for business and he insisted that representatives of the business institutions go on the trips. He predicted the coming trip as a grand success, "for that western country is noted for its chicken."

J. W. Riggins held attention when he began his talk by saying: "Mr. Woodson says bankers and business are cruel and cold. That is true in Waco, but I did not find it true in St. Louis. But Mr. Woodson knows it reminds me of the fellow who was making a coffin. He was their advancement in our advancement, and their success our success."

He also advocated advertising Texas, stating a broad-minded policy was the only sure policy, that the democratic policy should be reversed, and we should not say, "I am as good as you," but "you are as good as we." He said he was going on this, the first trade trip he had taken this year. He also expressed appreciation for the telegram sent him at St. Louis by the president of the Y. M. B. L., which stated that the Y. M. B. L. would place its entire force behind him, and that this telegram did a great deal to drive away the fear and the worry he had encountered, and he "Riggins, you are bound to succeed."

Father V. I. Donnelly of St. Basil's said he had seen Waco grow since the Y. M. B. L. had turned the money loose, that the money had always been here, and the league was the force to loosen the purse strings. He said if the college with which he was associated had the Y. M. B. L. behind it "we could build St. Basil's college ten times greater than it now is." He urged the league to work for an extension of the street car system to the college.

During the meeting both Father Donnelly and Father Gignac were made honorary members of the league. Father Donnelly protested this and said they wanted to be paying members.

George L. Root, When Father Donnelly was seated, George L. Root, special agent for the Southern Underwriters of San Antonio, a stranger, arose and said he had wanted some time to meet the Y. M. B. L. meeting. He predicted that within twenty-five years Waco would be the largest city in Texas. Last year he said he traveled over 15,000 miles and visited 325 towns, and that it was his conviction that there is nothing to prevent Waco from being the distributing center. He said, "You have to eradicate all fear. Believe in yourselves, say 'I will do it,' and do it. Man upon earth is supreme and he can do anything he wants to do. It takes time, brains and energy, and you have them all."

You are the center of population and the center of a rich agricultural belt; all you want is freight rates. The freight men tell me three years ago there were only one or two cars of goods shipped out of Waco daily to the country you are about to visit. Now one sending train loads a day to that section.

"Have no feeling, give to one another, all pull together, get more railroads, and they will help you get the rates."

He said, "Don't stop to consider the cost, get the natural gas from the Texas fields. Then the factories and people will come and the railroads will offer you the inducement of rates. Live not for today, live for tomorrow, every man who goes out of your town with a good word, brings another."

Following Mr. Root's talk, he was loudly applauded and elected an honorary member of the club.

I. Friedlander, speaking to the good of the order, advised having more business transacted at the general meetings. This suggestion was taken up by others, and each urged this policy be again inaugurated.

Dr. S. C. Gage, lately removed here from Abilene, spoke briefly. Following the talks, the meeting adjourned to partake of refreshments which consisted of cooling drinks. The trade trip is scheduled to leave here Thursday morning, June 26.

TEMPLE HAS FIRE LOSS.
Hotel and Residence Burn in Early Morning Fire.

Temple, Texas, June 24.—At 2 o'clock this morning fire destroyed the Temple hotel, formerly known as the Star hotel. Two adjoining residences were included in the loss. The hotel was a large frame structure of thirty-five rooms and owned by G. M. Collier, and leased by a Mr. Edwards, recently from Willis, Texas. There was little insurance on the building and furnishings, which was the property of Edwards. Many guests were in the building and all escaped in safety, though by narrow margins, most of them getting out only in night apparel.

An adjoining twelve-room residence was destroyed, also a six-room residence. The big Stagg hotel was scorched. Total loss was approximately $15,000.

FAMINE IN THE RANKS.
Federal Soldiers in Mexico Are Eating Snakes.

Negales, June 24.—Federal soldiers above Guaymas are reduced to eating snakes, so completely has the food supply been cut off by the Sonoran insurgent state troops, say advices reaching here. Small pox epidemics in the constitutionalist camps partially equalize the situation.

Despite the demoralization caused by famine and disease on either side, fighting was reported to have continued late today. The insurgents attacked Ojeda's column from both the front and rear. Many were reported killed, while the wounded lie unattended on the field.

State officials insist that the federalists are losing ground in the continued battle, while their ranks are being depleted by desertions.

For Treaty With Russia.
Washington, June 24.—Responding to a suggestion made some time ago by the Russian government, Secretary Bryan has informed Ambassador Bakmetoff that he would be glad to enter into negotiations for a new treaty of trade and commerce between America and Russia. No attempt has been made actually to open negotiations as yet and it is understood that the ambassador who has communicated Secretary Bryan's message to his government, is awaiting instructions from St. Petersburg.

Gets More Terminal Land.
Galveston, Texas, June 24.—A deal has been consummated whereby the Southern Pacific practically acquires the Merchants and Planters' company plant located in the western part of the city and comprising two and a half city blocks and adjoining the freight terminals of the railroad company, which will enable, both steamship and rail lines to handle their freight much more economically than now. The company has been desirous of securing more commodious quarters for some time. The deal involves $200,000.

drop possibly to 2,000,000 feet a day in the summer and might run to 4,000,000 a day in the winter.

He was not in a position to state the price it could be supplied to Waco consumers, but the charge in Mexico for domestic purposes is forty cents per 1,000 feet.

Visitors Are Entertained.
Mr. Drake stated that he had talked to President Strickland of the Texas Power and Light company and that he had said that if the gas is brought to the city limits or near that he would listen to a proposition from the people of Waco to supply the gas through the company's mains which are already laid.

It was suggested by the Mexia men that there were towns between Mexia and Waco that would use the gas if small extensions were run off the main pipe line and the revenue from this source would be considerable.

After the meeting the visitors were shown about the city and entertained by the Waco people.

The visitors from Mexia were: J. B. Nussbaum, Blake Smith, J. Desenberg, Dr. J. M. Conrad, R. J. Jackson, T. Bennett, Joe Peoples, H. Gregory, W. M. White and J. E. Lench.

E. W. Marshall presided at the meeting, and E. F. Drake was secretary. Present were: W. D. Lacy, W. C. Abel, Alfred Abel, G. H. Lucida, A. H. Bell, Dr. J. J. Dean, Dr. C. L. Watson, J. W. Riggins, D. M. Hirschfeld, I. Friedlander, W. A. Rathbun, R. T. Dennis, J. J. Powers, J. B. Miller, F. L. Miller, G. F. Duncan, F. B. Randle, L. M. Roy, Roy B. Lamm, J. M. Nash, George McGhee, Joe Sanger, John W. Wright, W. W. Woodson, J. B. Fisher, H. C. Rohrer, F. J. True, Grate Dalton, James Hays Quarles and H. Hagendorf.

TO REBUILD SUSPENSION BRIDGE.

Experts to Be Here From Dallas to Fix the Goe.

Experts from Dallas with all the information necessary in regard to rehabilitating the old suspension bridge across the Brazos river, are expected in Waco Friday or Saturday. A letter from Austin Bros. of that city was read before the city commission yesterday.

The letter stated one of the largest cable manufacturers in the United States would be in Dallas on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and the experts expected here Wednesday would be delayed in reaching here, in order to meet the manufacturer. Following the visit to Waco, plans will immediately be completed to rebuild the structure.

Applications from the Brazos Valley Telephone company, to run its conduit under the bridge, and to construct manholes between the curb and the interurban tracks on the east side of the river, was read. Some objection to the company attaching their conduit to the bridge was raised and the matter was referred to the city engineer and the street commissioner, with instructions to take the matter up with the county commissioners.
